1. What cookies are

Cookies are small files that a website stores in your browser. They can be strictly necessary for the site to work or be used for analytics or marketing.

2. Cookies we use

Only one strictly necessary cookie, `pc_lang` (ProcessCraft, first party): it remembers the language version you chose for 12 months. We set it only when you click the language switch. As it is strictly necessary to provide the service you request, it does not require consent (Art. 399 of the Polish Electronic Communications Law).
